

Inspections and Permits

The Code Enforcement official issues construction-related permits and perform construction inspections for all new construction and major renovations to existing structures. New construction inspections include footings, concrete, plumbing, structural, and final building inspections. Certificate of occupancy inspections are required for commercial properties before the building can be occupied.

To schedule an inspection or inquire about a permit, call Code Enforcement.